QA – What are the aims and objectives of the workshop?

This day package covers Health and Safety in the Workplace and Food Safety in Childcare workshops. The will give you an understanding of both subjects and covers everything needed to ensure your setting is safe and secure.

QA – Who will train me?

With over 20 years experience as a fire officer Paul has an extensive practical background that has equipped him ideally for the training and advice that he now has a passion to deliver. After leaving the fire service Paul qualified as a teacher specialising in all aspects of Health & Safety both delivering courses and providing health & safety advice on a consultancy basis. He is a long serving member of The Institute of Fire Engineers and an approved Chartered Institute of Environmental Health tutor. Paul has a diverse client base ranging from Offender Learning to Commerce, Industry and Care Sector training.

Sue is an energetic, enthusiastic trainer with a work background dedicated to teaching others about food safety and food preparation. She has an extensive knowledge of all aspects of the sciences which come together in her subject specialism which has gained her Chartered Institute Environmental Health accreditation in nutrition and food safety at all levels. Her communication skills and dedication to her students coupled with the technical knowledge she possesses mean that Sue is one of the top sought after CIEH accredited trainers in the country.
